Report on seminar on Role of J&K Youth in Achieving
Viksit Bharat @2047

The Department of political science in collaboration with the NSS units of Government Degree College, Kangan organised a seminar on the theme "Role of J&K Youth in achieving Viksit Bharat @2047" on 05-08-2025. The event aimed to engage students, faculty and stakeholders in a constructive dialogue about the aspirations, responsibilities and potential contributions of the youth of Jammu & Kashmir in the vision of a developed India by the Year 2047. The seminar commenced with a welcome address by Prof. Waseem Yaseen who highlighted importance of Youth engagement in nation-building especially in the context of J&K. The session witnessed active participation from students and faculty members alike. One of the key speakers of the seminar was Mudasir Ahmad, a 3rd semester student, who eloquently addressed the gathering on the dynamic role of youth in social transformation, innovation and policy advocacy. He emphasized the need for educational empowerment, digital literacy and social harmony as essential tools for achieving the vision of Viksit Bharat. His speech was well received and appreciated for its clarity, depth and enthusiasm. Prof. Waseem Yaseen, Head of the Department of Environmental Science also shared his valuable perspective, focusing on the environmental challenges that could hinder national development if not addressed in time. He underlined the critical importance of youth participation in environmental conservation, climate change mitigation, and sustainable living practices as key components of Viksit Bharat Vision. The seminar concluded with an interactive session where students posed questions and shared suggestions, leading to a vibrant exchange of ideas. The event was a resounding success, fostering awareness, motivation, and a sense of responsibility among the youth of Government Degree College, Kangan. Several other students also took the stage to share their insights and perspectives. They spoke at length about the socio-political challenges in the region, the importance of skill development, and the need for inclusive growth. The students expressed their willingness to contribute positively towards sustainable development and national progress. The seminar was further enriched by the thought-provoking address of Prof. Zahoor Ahmad Dar, Head of the Department of Political Science. He provided a comprehensive overview of India's developmental roadmap and stressed the role of political awareness, democratic participation, and civic responsibility among youth. He urged the students to be proactive in shaping public discourse and contributing to policy frameworks that reflect the aspirations of a modern India. The seminar served as a significant platform for empowering students and encouraging dialogue on the vital role of youth in achieving a developed India by 2047. It highlighted the collective responsibility of educational institutions, faculty and the youth to work together in the spirit of innovation, inclusiveness and sustainability.
